

Biological Medicine Seminar Program

LEARN THE SUCCESSFUL CONCEPT OF SWISS BIOLOGICAL MEDICINE

We offer you the unique opportunity to expand and update your knowledge in the field of integrative or biological medicine.

This educational program will provide a worldwide training standard and independent curriculum for holistic, integrative medical advice with high scientific quality. All subjects covered will take different medical disciplines into consideration and will be explained using actual case studies. Relevant, interdisciplinary and individualized therapy solutions and patient counselling strategies will be presented. During this training program participants will be given a solid understanding of the connections between academic medicine and civilizational influences. This guarantees a qualified understanding of holistic therapy support and to find solution to complex, unclear health problems.

This intensive training in biological medicine helps you to be more confident in your holistic treatment methods.

The general acceptance of natural healing methods has never before been as high as it is today - be it prophylactic or supportive with conventional treatments. And, furthermore, the need for new approaches in healthcare are becoming ever more important.

Paracelsus Academy Team

LECTURERS OF PARACELSUS SHOWS MODERN WAYS TO TREAT

Paracelsus Clinic in Lustmühle, near St. Gallen, Switzerland, boasts a team of esteemed practitioners in the field of biological medicine. Renowned for their expertise, the clinic's lecturers have made significant contributions to advancing holistic health practices. Their commitment to enhancing detoxification methods and fortifying immunity has garnered global recognition, attracting clients from around the world. Over the years, the team at Paracelsus Clinic has collectively evolved biological medicine into a comprehensive system encompassing innovative diagnostic and therapeutic approaches. The lecturers at Paracelsus are valued speakers, passionately dedicated to the principles and practices of biological medicine.

BENEFITS FOR YOU

1. The innovative and hands-on training program enables participants to advance in a rapidly evolving scientific field.
2. The speakers ensure extensive support through personal interaction with the participants.
3. Paracelsus Clinic has one of the most experienced physicians and practices Biological Medicine since 1958 and has an international network of specialists.
Become part of the international network!
 - you are able to practice Biological Medicine in your own practice
 - you will receive much practical advice from Paracelsus Doctors
 - you have the chance of an internship at the Paracelsus Clinic, Lustmühle.

The scientifically and cell biology-based teachings of Paracelsus offers a very effective method of treating chronic, unclear and degenerative diseases. Idiopathic „unclear“ and „undefinable“ diseases, which cannot be remedied by conventional medicine, are increasing tremendously and nowadays lead to the greatest costs in health care - also from an economic point of view.

Our programs deliver professional education about the Swiss Biological Medicine approach to difficult disease diagnosis, treatment and self-care based upon his 3-Pillar Biological Medicine Paradigm. This program is dedicated to deliver effective medical approaches to health practitioners from around the world. We are now connected to clinics in 20 countries through the common interest in Biological Medicine. The 3-pillars program of Biological Medicine, diagnostics and therapies can be applied by all health practitioners for the successful treatment of “difficult“ and unclear illnesses.

The Paracelsus Academy Seminar events discuss the Swiss Biological Medicine approach to difficult diseases such as cancers, autoimmune, inflammatory diseases, neuropathies (including autism, ADD, MS, dementia), chronic Lyme disease and other conditions believed to be undiagnosable. Overview of modern medical developments as well as the modern causes of chronic diseases is conveyed: Toxic loads, changes in the microbiome and the relationships between the gut and brain, as well as new findings on the stimulation of cell renewal in degenerative diseases.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

You learn how to examine, test and identify causes, symptoms and patterns of disorders and apply proven therapy concepts. Learn to treat causes, not only suppress symptoms – and to treat individuals, not only diagnoses!

We teach you how to restore the power of natural systems from within – cell by cell. Both scientific and innovative, this approach will help you in your private practice, especially with difficult cases of chronic and degenerative disease.

CONCEPT

The program currently consists of 6 x 2-day Seminar Modules, 1 darkfield workshop seminar and 1 online nutrition course. Modules 5 and 6 will always be taught in Switzerland. This allows for attendees to take a tour through the Paracelsus Clinic. Module 1 is an overview of the entire paradigm and is suitable for all practitioners, clinic staff or educated lay persons. The Module 2 - 6 subjects cover aspects of specific medical programs. A team of experienced lecturers and some staff members of Paracelsus Clinic, will also participate in selected Academy events.

After attending all modules you will receive a Certificate for Biological Medicine, which enables you to become a Swiss Biological Medicine associated practitioner and will be part of an international network. Seminars are offered online and in Switzerland at scheduled locations near St.Gallen.

FOR WHOM

Experienced healthcare professionals such as doctors, dentists, naturopathic doctors, therapists and lay people interested in Biological Medicine.

MODULE 1

INTRODUCTION TO PARACELSUS 3-PILLARS OF SWISS BIOMEDICINE

This seminar is an excellent summary of the entire Swiss Biomedicine program.

Attendees of the program will learn the distinctions and similarities between Swiss Biomedicine and conventional medicine, functional medicine, naturopathic medicine, traditional Chinese medicine (TCM), conventional dentistry, nutritional medicine, homeopathic medicine, and the incorporation of many therapies.

Swiss Biomedicine is an innovative incorporation of many of those disciplines, new diagnostic tools, remedies and therapy systems. Conventional medicine is converging more and more with natural medicine approaches which we have been applying for decades. As medical science advances, important natural healing ideas continue to become adopted into the Swiss Biomedicine system.

We also discuss the widespread under-appreciated impact of dental health on disease, and how dentistry can contribute significantly to improving medical conditions. This Module is a wonderful start for all levels of staff working in natural medicine or biological dental settings. It helps everyone to understand what difference they can achieve in their community by applying a different approach.

MODULE 2

REGULATION AND DETOXIFICATION – THE 1st PILLAR OF SWISS BIOMEDICINE

This program examines the 1st Pillar of the 3-pillars Swiss Biological Medicine paradigm developed by Paracelsus. Biological medicine views disease symptoms as the sign of blockades in a normally powerful self-regulating system. Pillar 1 is about this central and specific issue and about quantifying toxic situations important in natural medicine.

Every individual has a personalized capacity for excreting and managing physiological responses to toxic, dental, allergenic and pathological exposures. Some handle exposures better than others. Learn why and learn about the corrective measures.

MODULE 3

RESTORATION, REGENERATION AND INTESTINAL HEALTH – THE 2nd & 3rd PILLARS OF SWISS BIOMEDICINE

The powerful influence of the intestines is central in chronic disease progression. Restoring the integrity and function of the intestinal mucosa is vitally important. The intestinal system contributes important hormones and provides immune capacity, autonomic nervous system influences, selective absorption of nutritional needs, blocking invasive substances and organisms and the excretion of toxins. We discuss the restoration of the gut – the 2nd Pillar of Paracelsus Biological Medicine.

Fire up your sluggish intestinal tract and you can activate regenerative capacities in the body – the 3rd Pillar of our biological medicine. Learn how recovery can be stimulated after restoration of these critical regulatory systems. We also review diagnostic methods and therapies designed to stimulate restorative processes.

MODULE 4

THE CRITICAL INFLUENCE OF HYPERACIDITY IN MODERN COMPLEX DISEASE

Hyperacidity of the milieu is an important principle of Paracelsus Biological Medicine approach. Hyperacidity is associated with several direct impacts on health and we have experienced co-causation and pathological influences associated with cases of osteoporosis, hypertension, heart disease, fibromyalgia, diabetes, recurring infections, cancers, degenerative osteoarthritis, and many more.

We will discuss how this hyperacidity in the body can be detected and how we can treat it. When this underlying condition, and other related co-causal nutritional situations can be rectified, then this health shift in the right direction can improve many other steps in the biological medicine recovery process.

MODULE 5

DEVELOPING TREATMENT PLANS FOR MODERN COMPLEX DISEASE

Everything we do in medicine starts with the first meeting with the patient. This program will guide you in the process of creating an action plan that begins with the first physical examination and interview. This is where the rubber hits the road.

What and when do I test? We will examine what we look for in available diagnostic tools and how it guides an action plan. What is important, and what is less important?

We will embrace the big picture thinking of the 3-pillars Swiss Biological Medicine approach. Step by step we will consider the healthcare diagnostic and treatment plan methodology. In addition, we examine specific protocols and dental procedures for specific medical situations. Case studies will help illuminate the principles.

MODULE 6

PARACELSUS BIOLOGICAL MEDICINE CANCER PROGRAMS

The Module 6 program has been among the most popular, both for the medical subject, and because it really does tie together all of the 3-pillar aspects of the Swiss Biological Medicine approach to medicine.

We discuss the specific methodologies applied for diagnosis and testing, the high value of dentistry collaboration, use of supplements and remedies, important therapeutic treatment options and the importance of patient engagement, monitoring and mind/body health management.

Case examples also help highlight the thinking and the methods behind the Swiss Biological Medicine treatment plans.

ONLINE SEMINAR NUTRITION AND CHRONIC DISEASE – THE SWISS SECRET OF BIOLOGICAL MEDICINE

Paracelsus Academy has prepared an online course program that dedicates a focus to the very central and recurring nutritional matters important to applying the biological medicine approach.

More than 65 years of experience has refined the understanding of disease causation influences provoked by dietary factors. Those experiences are translated into action plans that provide important therapeutic benefit for so many chronic ailments such as allergies, fibromyalgia, CFS, neuralgias, MS, autism, ADD & ADHD, Crohn's disease, IBS, arthritis, inflammatory conditions, hypertension, diabetes, cancer and more.

Without managing this central aspect of patient long-term health, we are only achieving temporary relief with the other tools in our toolbox. When all these aspects of Swiss Biological Medicine care are applied together, the true power of natural healing is released. These approaches have been proven effective time and again in several patient cases at the Paracelsus Clinic, Lustmühle.
